The Weed Whisperer: A Doonesbury Book

Synopsis

What a long, strange strip it's been! Doonesbury has managed to be articulate, abrasive, political, compassionate, misunderstood, misprinted, and outrageous—but one thing it's never been is complacent. Garry Trudeau's creation has chronicled American history and culture in a parallel universe. And through it all, Doonesbury has always been honest, entertaining, and way, way cool. • Don't read Doonesbury. He glorifies drugs. • "Former White House Press Secretary Marlin Fitzwater • Welcome to the age of pivots. Two centuries after the Founding Fathers signed off on happiness, Zonker Harris and nephew Zipper pull up stakes and head west in hot pursuit. The dream? Setting up a major grow facility outside Boulder, Colorado, and becoming bajillionaire producers of artisanal marijuana. For Zonk, it's the crowning reset of a career that's ranged from babysitting to waiting tables. For Walden-grad Zip, it's a way to confront $600,000 in student loans. • Elsewhere in Free Agent America, newlyweds Alex and Toggle are struggling. Twins Eli and Danny show up during their mother's MIT graduation, but a bad economy dries up lab grants, compelling the newly minted PhD to seek employment as a barista. Meanwhile, eternally blocked writer Jeff Redfern struggles to keep the Red Rascal legend-in-his-own-mind franchise alive, while aging music icon Jimmy T. endures by adapting to his industry's new normal: he can make music on my schedule and release it directly to the fans. • He's living in his car. • G.B. Trudeau's Doonesbury is now in its fifth decade, and has chronicled American life through eight presidents, four generational cohorts, and innumerable paradigm shifts. His political sitcom Alpha House, starring John Goodman, is available on DVD and by streaming from Prime. • For the record, Trudeau always inhaled back in the day. As President Obama once explained, "That was the point."

Perfect Trudeau as usual. SPOILERS UP NEXT! Alex has her babies (plural!) while she's graduating from MIT and Zonk and Zip become the third generation of Doonesbury characters to inhabit Hunter S Thompson's house. I mean, if it were really HST's house, which of course it probably isn't. Legal cannabis finally catapults Zonk into an actual paying career, and when he and Zip are perceived as "together," they leverage their product for the gay cannabis connoisseur. Zonk has come a long way from being a stoner football player at Walden, and Joanie has just Had It with her "Red Rascal" son, her coworker's attempt to fix her couture, and her wacky daughter, but now she's a great-grandmother. And, very gratifyingly, the "open office" situation is pissing off Mike's and Kim's employees, as open office should rightfully piss off everyone. I only wish these Doonesbury compendia had EVERY SINGLE daily cartoon in them.

Zonker in all of his glory. Great story line for the changing times. (About time too) Will be a book to pass on to the grandkids in the future, to see where it all began.

Get your Doonesbury fix!

Been a fan of Doonesbury from the beginning-always have to add to my library.

Hilarious!

Zonker. Weed. Doonesbury. Do you really need to know more? Buy this book. Read and reread it just like you have every other Doonesbury book .
